Tatum Will Case To Be Appealed

J. E. Abernathy, attorney for the executives in the Tatum will case, tried in Sherman 59th District Court, stated Saturday that an appeal will be made.

The trial closed Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock at which time Mrs. Nettie Womble was awarded the two-million-dollar estate of the late C. T. Tatum of Farmersville. The announcement of the jury's decision appeared in Friday afternoon's Daily Courier-Gazette shortly after the verdict had been announced.

The jury in the trial, was composed of nine women and three men. Judge W. C. Dowdy of McKinney presided over the court.

Attorneys In Case.

Attorneys for Mrs. Womble were Roland Boyd of McKinney; Henry Strasburger, of Dallas and Alex Gullett of Denison.

Attorneys for the defense were J. E. Abernathy of McKinney; William Duls and John Harris, both of Dallas and Wallace Hughsson of McKinney, lawyers for the Scottish Rite Crippled Childrens' Hospital, Dallas, and Bruce Graham, of Dallas, representing Buckner Orphans' Home Dallas, and the firm of Freels, Elliott and Nall, in Sherman.

Jury Out Six Hours.

The case was transferred to Grayson county after the first trial here ended in a hung jury. The jury in the second trial deliberated slightly more than six hours.

Mrs. Womble, who said she was the common law wife of Tatum, had been left only a small share of his estate, in an earlier will.

In winning, she took away from Buckner Orphans Home and the Scottish Rite Hospital for Crippled Children in Dallas, the defendants in the case, the fortune that had been given them by a will made in 1945.

That will, incidentally, left $2,500 for the Odd Fellows Cemetery to maintain the grave of a relative, but nothing to maintain the grave of Tatum's mother.

Second Will Introduced.

Mrs. Womble introduced a will written Dec. 9, 1952, a couple of weeks before Tatum's death. Some of the nation's top handwriting experts were called in and the jury apparently agreed that it was Tatum's writing.

That point and the contention that he was of sound mind formed the basis of Mrs. Womble's case.

The attorneys said Mrs. Womble and Tatum reached an oral agreement that they needed each other and Mrs. Womble helped the man by caring for him for 20 years and he in turn left her his estate.

Attorney Roland Boyd of McKinney also brought out that the handwriting experts had agreed that the writing of the letters were "slightly different" and "this alone shows it to be genuine. In 1945, Tatum wrote a will on how he wanted the money diveded. On Dec. 9, 1952, he wrote another will and that is how he wanted it distributed then."

Defense Argument.

The defense, represented by Saunders Freels of Denison, argued that "it is not believable that someone would hold back a will, probate another, and not say anything to her own sister or anyone else about it. "This fact alone renders her (Mrs. Womble's) testimony unbelievable."

Mrs. Womble could only say when the verdict was announced, "my lawyers are just wonderful. I was not a bit worried about what the jury verdict would be."

Testimony was never brought out during the trial as to the reason Mrs. Womble waited so long in producing the second will.

Buying Electrical Equipment.

Texas time to choose electrical household equipment carefully . . . Examine so-called "bargain" before you buy. We suggest these points as guides for buying electrical equipment:

1. Go to a reliable dealer, preferably in your own community.
2. Study different makes before you buy.
3. Talk with friends and neighbors about the service they have had with similar equipment.
4. Look for standard models rather than Deluxe models unless you have a lot of money to spend and plan to use the extra features often.
5. Learn how to operate the equipment before you accept it from the dealer.
6. Learn how to care for the equipment.
7. Read carefully all labels and information given about equipment. Be sure the UL (underwriters laboratory) seal is on the cord — This shows that the wiring has passed the test of satisfactory and safe performance.

Shrub Hunting Season Open.

Native shrubs of ornamental value are found in all parts of Texas. Shrubs can be marked now and transplated to the home grounds during the winter.

Shrubs which have attractive berries and bright fall leaves are easy to spot at this time of the year; it's also easy to select the evergreen shrubs that you may be looking for.

Valuable native plants are often found growing in nearby pastures, old friends, canyons and breaks. Those found near your home will be especially well adapted to the soil and climate and will usually thrive when moved to the home grounds. They may take less care than introduced plants.

There are many possibilities . . . Examples are the ceniza and agarita which grows in the southwestern area; native hollies, bayberry, cherry laurel, and Indian cherry in East Texas. Evergreen sumac or kiniknik, mountain laurel, Texas madrona, Texas arbutus, cedar, and Arizona cypress are found growing wild in Central and West Texas.

Teen-agers are poorly fed, studies show . . . They often prefer weird concoctions of rich or highly spiced foods — or whatever "the gang" happens to be eating, to balance family meals. Lecturing does little good. We suggest that you appeal to their interest in their interest in their appearance . . . Help them realize that:

1. Clear skin and sparkling eyes often result from good food habits (and fewer sweets).
2. A good diet can give them more pep and energy — perhaps even help them think more clearly.
3. A good diet can help them get and keep a good figure — those glamorous movie stars and athletes certainly have to eat a good diet to look that way.

Hints on Winterizing Farm Machinery Offered:

Farmers are advised not to put off the job of winterizing farm machinery. The first hard freeze can play havoc with auxilitary motors, tractor engines, and sprayers unless they are winterized.

He says auxiliary motorsh should first be cleaned; the crankcase drained and refilled with new oil and the motor run for several minutes to coat all surfaces with oil. Drain the radiator and flush with clear water.

Remove the spark plugs. Give them a good cleaning and adjust and oil before replacing them. While the plugs are out, lubricate the upper cylinder walls. Drain the fuel tank and allow to air dry. Cover the end of the exhaust and breather pipes to prevent moisture and entering the motor. Clean and charge the battery and store where it will not freeze.

To winterize the spray equipment, flush the entire system. Remove all drain plugs and run the pump for a few minutes. Open all valves while the pump is running to release any trapped water and remove and place all value balls in oil. Drain the oil from the pump and flush with kerosene: then refill the pump with new oil. Grease and turn the shafts to distribute greese on shaps and bearings and hang hose so all water drains out.

On all machinery, give it a good cleaning; pack bearings to seal out moisture; remove belts and canvasses and store in a dry, rodent-proof container. Apply a rust inhibitor to all polish surfaces such as plow moldboards and sieves. While this job is taking place, inspect the machinery and either repair or mark for repairing during the winter, broken, bent or worn parts.

The present cost-price squeeze is just more reason why farmers can't afford losses which can be prevented. For economy's sake winterize all farm machinery.

Good News For Dairymen.

Americans are drinking more milk and eating larger quantities of other dairy products.

In 1953 each person used the equivalent of only 688 lbs. of milk, the smallest quantity since 1924 when figures are good news for dairy producers. Consumption per person rose to average about 700 lbs. And still better, indications are the 1955 average consumption figure will be slightly higher.

The upturn in the consumption of milk resulted from several factors. Retail prices went down slightly when supports were reduced in April, 1954. Consumer incomes moved upward in the last quarter of 1954, making it possible for many familie to afford more dairy foods. Increased consumption was also aided by Government disposal programs and by the industry's promotion campaign. Advertisers stressed the fact that peaple of all ages need milk to keep healthy.

And the installation of vending machines in offices, public buildings and other locations made it easier for workers, travelers and others to buy sweet milk, buttermilg, and flavored milk drinks.

LETTERS FROM . . . THE PEOPLE

To the McKinney Daily Courier-Gazette:

If it is right to do away with segregation why did the Creator make or create the different races? I would like for the U. S. Supreme Court to answer that question. I know that the Creator knows better than man. No candidate will ever get my vote who advocates doing away with segregation.

The leaders or rulers of any nation who disreguard, or ignore, the Bible cause confusion, misunderstanding and trouble.

LOCAL EDITOR SPEAKS TO SCHOOL JOURNALISM CLASS

By MIKE FLANAGAN
Student in Journalism.

"If you plan to enter newspaper work, learn how to spell" said Tom W. Perkins when he spoke to the journalism class at Boyd High School here recently. Mr. Perkins, one of the editors of the Daily Courier-Gazette and Weekly Democrat-Gazette, continued by saying "today high school students have more trouble with spelling and abbreviating than any phase of their work".

Mr. Perkins said there was no work to be found anywhere that was more interesting or romantic than newspaper. The field is wide open for men and women who have a college degree in journalism or even practical students, since there are about 25 jobs to every person available".

"You'll never get rich, but you will always have a job", continued Mr. Perkins. "A newspaper can be a service or a harmful factor in the life of a community". He stated that all of the newspapers in Collin County work together for the good of the community. Incidently, Collin County has more newspapers than any other county in Texas.

His talk was concluded with an interesting story concerning the green light mounted on the newspaper office.

Senator Johnson To Head Texas Heart Fund As Chairman

Senator Lyndon Johnson

Senator Lyndon Johnson will serve as the state chairman of the 1956 Texas Heart Fund during February, it has been announced by Dr. Kleberg Eckhardt of Corpus Christi, president of the Texas Heart Association.

Senator Johnson who now is recuperating at his Texas home from the effects of a severe heart attack he suffered last July 2, accepted the chairmanship of the February Heart Fund campaign with the statement.

"During recent months I have had reason to become personally aware of the scope of the lifesaving work made possible by the voluntary contributions of funds for use in research into heart disease.

"In all seriousness, I doubt that I would be here now except for the application of medical knowledge gained from such research prior to the heart attack I suffered last July.

"The money contributed to the Texas Heart Fund, which is an integral factor in the work of the Texas and American Heart Associations, is an investment in human lives. I am confident that the people of Texas will make such an investment in generous measure this year, as they have in the past.

"This is a cause in which all of us can work together for the good of humanity. I know Texans will not fail to meet this challenge."

Dr. Eckhardt and R. L. Thomas, Dallas bank official and chairman of the board of the Texas Heart Fund chairmanship. We feel certain that local Heart Associations and chapters affiliated with Texas Heart Association will increase their efforts to support the Heart Fund under Senator Johnson's able leadership."

More Hunters Than Ducks At Lake Lavon

The Wylie News, published at Wylie, Texas, in an item last week stated that "Hunters have been more plentiful at Lake Lavon than ducks," this season. The item as it apeared in the paper, follows:

The 75-day season opened officially on November 3.

Opening morning of the season, three hunters were rescued from their blinds in the middle of the lake when high winds made it impossible for them to reach the shore, and two more were aescued that afternoon, according to Hassel Holder, resident engineer for the U. S. Engineers, who assisted in the rescue.

Luckily, no accidents have marred the season so far. One hunter was drowned at Lake Dallas when high winds capsized a boat.

According to Mr. Holder, the engineers this year issued a total of 302 permits for duck blinds on the lake. This was an increase over the number issued last year.

Ducks seemed to be plentiful for the first morning or so, and several reported getting their limit, but fewer kills have been reported the past few mornings.

A number of violations have been reported by "Doc" McCallum, local game warden.

Jim Wolfe, operator of Lakeview Lodge, stated this week that the ducks had been plentiful in the deep water, and also reported good hunting in the areas where timber is plentiful, both on the East Fork and Pilot sides of the lake.

Bob Richardson of the Western Auto Store here and Glen Daniel of Sportsman's Headquarters, both reported that they had issued a number of hunting permits.

Earl Williams, of Fayetteville, Ark., visited in the home of his uncle, Sid Williams and family, here Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Johnson of Blue Ridge, had as their guests recently Mrs. George Smith and Mrs. McAdams of Carrollton.

Gainesville Leopards Beat Lions 34 To 0

By NORMAN SCOTT

Quarterback Richard Hackler, a 152-pounder, led the Gainesville Leopards to a 34-0 victory over the McKinney Lions Friday night at Gainesville in a District 3-AAA encounter.

After the Lions had battled the Leopards on even terms for most of the opening stanza, Hackler took charge near the end of the quarter when end Bobby Morris blocked Don Wharton's punt on the McKinney 36. With a fourth down and 10 from the Lion 36, Hackler rolled out around left end for 14 yards to the Lion 22 for a first down, and after halfbacks Tom Erwin and Jackie Holt moved the pigskin to 13, Hackler made 3 on a quarterback sneak for another first on the 10 as the first period ended.

Billy Ellenberg, from his defensive right end position broke through and spilled Holt for a 7-yard loss and Hackler on a sweep at left end picked up 5 to the Lion 12. Linebacker Charles Allen then threw Erwin for a 5-yard loss back to the 17 but Hackler hit Morris down the middle for the Leopard's first score at 10:28. The snapback fro center was fumbled but Hackler picked the ball up and went wide around the left side for the point after.

Withh about 3 minutes remaining in the quarter, Hackler intercepted a Robert Joplin toss intended for Allen on the Gainesville 44, and on the first play, he again rolled out wide around left end on a keeper for 16 steps to the Lion 40. Tommy Capps and Bobby Riggs combined to spill Hackler for a 10-yard loss, and the Leopards drew a 15-yard penalty on the play also for illegal use of the hands. The loss and penaly moved the ball back to the Leopard 37 but Hackler jumped back in the picture again when he connected with Holt for a 42-yard earial gain to the Lion 21, and then went wide around the left side for 18 to the 3. From the 3, Holt hit right guard for the Leopards second touchdown with 2:07 remaining in the quarter. Hackler's placement kick was wide to the left.

Gainesville gained possession of the pigskin on the Lion 35 with 35 seconds remaining before the half, and Hackler passed to Holt for a marker, however, the play was called back and the Leopards were penalized for holding. Hackler then rambled to the Lion 3-yard line as the half ended with the Leopards leading 13-0.

The Lions received the second half kick-off with Allen carrying it out to the 19 but the Lions were penalized 15 yards for clipping, placing the ball on their own 4. They were unable to move, and Wharton got of a good kick against a stiff breeze to the midfield stripe where Hackler fielded the pigskin and cut to the west sideline. A wave of blockers formed in front of Hackler and he went all the way for the third Leopard score ed in 1886.

at 10:26 and then place-kicked the extra point.

After the ensping kick-off the Lions moved to their 42 and with fourth and 2 coming up, they gambled for a first down. The Leopards stopped fullback Gene Burgins cold for no gain in the middle of the line and took over.

From the 42, Holt cut gack inside left end for 13 to the Lion 29 and Hackler, on his favorite play, rolled out for 14 to the 15. Holt move dthe pigskin to the 11 after a backfield in motion penalty against the Leopards, and here was Hackler again as he galloped around right end for another score. He added the conversion with a perfect placement.

With his crew leading 27-0 with 6:36 showing on the clock in the third period, Coach Dusek of the Leopards put in his reserves. The clubs battled back and forth until about midway of the final quarter when Leopards recovered a Joplin fumble on the Lion 35.

With substitute quarterback James McCrory engineering the attack the Leopards moved to the Lion 17 featured by runs on the part of McCrory, halfbacks Bill Rogers and Fred Forrester, and a 7-yard pass from McCrory to end J. C. Conyers. Fullback Truman Bosley found a big hole at left tackle and scored the last Leopard marker from the 17, with 4:25 left in the game. Hackler again sent a perfect placement kick through the uprights . . . which ended the scoring for the night.

The Leopards completed bottled up the Lion attack and held the McKinney eleven to only 4 first downs. The Lions manager only 61 yards on the ground and failed to complete a pass in 7 attempts.

Gainesville accounted for 250 yards rushing and 79 passing on 4 completions in 10 tries, good for 18 first downs.

Hackler was the all-around star of the tilt, both offensively and defensivel, although his team mates must share the credit as they turned in some sharp blocking on offense, and the Leopards' defensive forwards turned in a sterling performance.

Although McKinney failed to display much of a offense, some of the lads up front performed yoeman work, at times, with end Billy Ellenberg, tackles Riggs and Charles Day, middle-guard Tommy Capps, and linebackers Allen and Don Wyatt leading the way.

The loss was the Lions' fourth straight in conference play, while the victory was the Leopard's fifth in a row.

Gainesville will meet the Sherman Bearcats in Sherman next Friday night in a show-down battle for the district title.

Descriptive Trip Through The Ozarks By McKinneyites

Mr. and Mrs. Arlon Farley and Mrs. Sherwood Day recently recented from a delightful trip through the Ozarks.

A description of their trip is given as follows:

"A thousand mile drive took us across Oklahoma, a corner of Kansas, into Springfield, Mo., the first day. We did not see any Indians but there were stands along the highway with baskets, rugs, etc. for sale that were supposed to have been made by them. We did see a Buffalo ranch, with live buffaloes.

"Lead and zinc mines were plentiful less than a day's drive from McKinney. We were amazed at the number of beautiful farm homes, where there was always a large, well kept barn, much larger than those in this area, and silos, windmills, and pools of water. Dairy farming must be fine, at least it looks that way from the highway.

"Leaving Springfield, Mo., early Sunday morning, we set out to see the Ozark Mountains in all their splendor. We took the scenic drive to Fort Smith, Ark. and have not words to describe the beauty of the scene. All colors of the rainbow are spread across deep canyons, and over the sides of the mountains which are of varying heights and sizes. Lakes and rivers are plentiful too. As you drive around the side of a mountain before you lies a beautiful green valley, dotted with pretty homes. Maybe the population is only five or six hundred. Some less. It seems there could be no mean or unlawful thing in a place which looks so peaceful.

"Between Springfield and Fort Smith lies the country known as "Little Shepherd of the Hills" country, although it has been many years since Harold Bell Wright lived in the little cabin on the top of the mountain and wrote the book.

The country appears to have changed but little. On top of this mountain is Inspiration Point and it is truly that,

"Sunday night in Fort Smith and an early start Monday morning, to see as much of Arkansas as possible, in one more day. Every place you stopped, even the little stands along the highways, you were asked to register. It was amusing to see who had passed along before, from Dallas, Fort Worth, or some place near home.

"Eureka Springs is a place to remember, as well as Van Buren. Hot Springs and Fayetteville. Here we head back toward McKinney. It was night when we arrived home, and a good place to be back, even though we had been away only three days."

Mrs. J. E. Gibson and daughter, Miss Gertrude Gibson, have returned from Ennis where they attended the bedside of their brother and uncle, C. M. Classroom Teachers Seek Understanding Of School And Public

The following item appeared in the November issue of Texas Classroom Teachers Association. McKinney has a unit of the state association, and the item will be of especial interest to parents here "Some Reasonable Explanation" is the title of the article:

The more than two hundred classroom teacher leaders from all parts of Texas who attended the TCTA Conference of Presidents in Mineral Wells, in September spent a part of the afternoon of the 24th in small groups which discussed informally the two topics: (1) What the Public Can Reasonably Expect of the Schools, and (2) What Teachers Can Reasonably Expect of the Public.

A summery of the findings and conclusions of these groups reveals that much misunderstanding and mutual criticism could be eliminated by providing some opportunity for lay and professional groups within a community to meet, to exchange ideas, to ask questions, to voice apprehensions, to seek solutions for problems upon a cooperative basis.

The following obligations were recognized and accepted by the teachers as their responsibility:

1. To teach all the children the fundamentals of learning which each individual needs to the greatest possible degree.
2. To develop skills which each child needs.
3. To stress the inculcation of moral and spiritual values by precept and by example.
4. To encourage the development of good habits.
5. To help each child to achieve the best that he is capable of becoming.

The teachers expressed the view that they could be helped to do a good job of teaching if the public accepted the following reponsibilities as their part of the educational work in the community:

1. To provide adequate school buildings and facilities.
2. To insist upon capable and fair administration.
3. To arrange for a reasonable and fairly distributed teaching load.
4. To understand that, after all, student welfare is dependent upon teacher welfare, and therefore, suitable compensation and adequate welfare measures are essential to good teaching.
5. To realize the importance to the whole educational process of the general recognition by the people of the community of the status of teaching as a learned and worthy profession.

DAV Chapter Surpasses Last Year's Membership

Maj. Gen. Melvin J. Maas (Ret.) National Commander of the Disabled American Veterans, and Chairman of the President's Committee on Employment of the Physically Handicapped, today sent congratulations to the McKinney Chapter No. 38 for surpassing last year's membership. As of November 1 the Chapter had 52 members.

Gen. Maas, in a message sent from National DAV Headquarters in Cincinnati, said the achievement of the Local Chapter has brought national recognition to the unit for its fine work in bringing together disabled veterans.

"Please accept the congratulations of your National Headquarters on this membership achievement" Gen. Maas said. "Every eligible eveteran in your area should join with you in protecting disabled veterans' rights as well as their future job security. The stronger the DAV is as an organization, the less individual disabled veterans will have to worry about employment.

"It is our hope that no member of the DAV ever is without a job. Through strength of numbers, we can make this possible now and in the future."

Generally speaking, American veterans who have been wounded, grassed, injured or disabled while serving in the armed forces of the United States in America's wars, are eligible for membership. This DAV eligiblity includes, in addition to World War I disabled veterans, those who have served in the armed forces at any time between December 7, 1941 and the conclusion of the Korean campaign.

The seventh annual series of Citizenship and Career Conferences is swinging into action under the sponsorship of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce in cooperation with East Texas colleges and universities, according to Charles F. Hawn of Athens, president of the regional chamber.

Joe J. Fisher of Jasper, chairman of the chamber's Citizenship and Career Committee sponsoring the conferences, stated that the purpose of the meetings is to aid high school seniors in choosing vocations and to impress them with their responsibilities as citizens.

Paul Hardin of McKinney is vice-chairman representing District 1 of the Citizenship and Career Committee.

Speakers and programs for the conferences are being arranged to meet in Marshall, Houston, Huntsville, Commerce, Shreveport, Nacogdoches, Beaumont, Athens, and Waco.

More than 50,000 high school students have attended the conferences since their beginning in 1950. From 25 to 35 vocations will be discussed by leading professional men during the eries of discussions.

Instruction For Home Gardeners Who Order Plants

Postmaster Don O. Davis advised McKinney home gardners today that for the safest mail delivery of their shrubbery and plants during the current Fall planting season they should take certain steps to aid postal authorities.

"We have been informed by the Gardening Council of New York that this is the shiping season for nursery stock orders," Mr. Davis said. "Much of the stock is perishable, and without the co-operation of the purchasers, and delivering agencies, best results cannot be expected."

The postmaster said there were three steps that purchasers of nursery stock should take:

1) If away or on vacation, make arrangements to have a neighbor accept shipments. Keep moist and in a cool location until Planting time. Otherwise, the plants may be damaged in storage at the Post Office or Express Station.

2.) If a neighbor cannot accept delivery, contact the Post Office, and leave instructions as to where the plant can be delivered. A cool basement, garage or shaded porch is always better than a mail room for storage of dormant plants.

3.) Best of all, if you are home, have the ground well prepared, and make your planting as soon as possible after delivery. Early planting liberal watering, and following the sender's instructions will insure growth of all plant materials.
